Winter Has Arrived

From The Principal

Mobile Phones at School

Following on from our cyber safety incursion earlier in the year, the Year 5 & 6 teachers in particular had lengthy discussions recently with our students in relation to mobile phone use at school. The school policy requires students to hand their phones into their classroom teacher or the office for safekeeping between 9am and 3:30pm. Unfortunately this has not been adhered to of recent times and there have been a growing number of incidents where students have breached the privacy of their peers through their phone use at school. Students have live streamed activities without understanding that the school has procedures in place for who can and cannot appear in digital or print media.

Following up with the senior students recently, I had more than 15 phones handed in to me that had not been handed in to the teacher or the office. Virtually all of them were on and constantly buzzed or chimed throughout the rest of the day. This is going on in school bags within the classroom daily and then students are sneakily having a look at their social media whenever they can. It is unfair to those that don't have phones and the constant distractions do not aid learning in any way. As families are no doubt aware, MPS provides all the technology a student needs at school, plus we can easily pass on messages through the office if it is urgent.

Further to this, we discussed the fact that there has been a clear rise in online incidents where students are being mean or deliberately upsetting their peers via social media platforms, most of which are rated 13+ for a reason. Children are trying to lead adult lives when they really only need to be concerned with who they are playing with on the weekend. It leads to issues that develop into a group mentality of piling into a student who may not be able to stand up to the crowd. That is bullying. I have asked students to provide screen shots of any incidents that occur online that involves another student at our school. Any student found to be engaging in this behaviour towards a classmate will face detention. It is unreasonable to expect the school to be able to get on top of these incidents when students are so clearly flouting the rules after hours on platforms that we cannot control, so we need your help. Please talk to your child about the appropriate use of their devices and social media, particularly if your child is accessing platforms that are rated 13+. This will go a long way to building respect and tolerance in all of our students and hopefully, reduce the instances of conflict between students online that sometimes spills over into the school day and vice versa. The more we are made aware, the better we can help.

Trivia Night

My thanks to the wonderful PFA for organising what was a fantastic night. In particular, I'd like to thank Sharon and Scott Adams for bringing the night together and running an absolutely great event. In addition, Lucy Meszaros, Mel Collard, Anne McNee, Mariana Surenian, Daniela McCole, Marie McGlone, Stacey Gibbs and Holly Oakes for going the extra mile yet again with their hard work, organisation and dedication to supporting our school. MPS would also like to thank all of our sponsors and those that donated chocolates, drinks, silent auction items and their time. I think we can all agree that finding time out of our busy lives is never easy, so we certainly appreciate it when families can do just that. In the end, the Trivia Night has raised just over $5,000 that will go towards the replacement of the senior playground. We hope to be able to provide some images of what the new playground will be like very soon, but I can say that anything like this is extremely expensive, so we will need to dig deep into our reserves on this occasion, which is why the support of the community means so much, as every dollar makes a difference to the overall project.

Student Progress and Parent Support

Many, if not all parents, would be aware that student learning begins to plateau towards the end of primary school and then really begins to flat line by the time students reach Year 9. Talking with parents during the Open Night prompted me to think about the fact that as a parent myself, I tend to spend less time supporting my own children as they become more independent. There is undoubtedly a clear correlation between the drop off in parent support and the diminishing returns we see in student learning, particularly in high school. Recently, principals throughout Monash have come together to try and identify how we can support students to become independent learners, develop their own sense of who they are as a person and at the same time, respect the fact that in a busy world, parents need their independence too! There is certainly nothing wrong with expecting your child to begin to stand on their own two feet, it is an essential life skill that we must teach, but checking in on how our students are tracking is equally important.

As a result, MPS is exploring ways in which we can get up to date information on student learning to parents, without the need to wait for mid and end of year reports. Our leadership team will be looking to trial a new system behind the scenes in Term 3 or 4 that gives parents and students a clear picture of the progress being made within a few weeks, as opposed to a 6 month wait. If successful, we will be looking to roll out a new reporting platform during 2020 that will see a reduced mid-year and end of year report, balanced by at least termly updates that highlight each child's achievements and point of need. This will help parents to understand their child's progress and highlight the specific areas each child needs to work on next in order to enhance their education. Of course, there will be times when progress may seem slower than usual, that is to be expected, as learning development is not a straight line, rather it is made up of surges where we see great improvement and more modest returns. In any event, our goal is to help you understand what your child is working towards so we can continue to build the home school partnership.

Enrolments

At this point in time, the school has approximately 80 enrolment requests for Foundation 2020. The school has been upfront about reserving places for students who live within the school zone and for those families with a sibling claim. At this stage we will be processing any future enrolments from outside of our catchment area during Term 3 and will confirm places by September 1st, whilst adhering to the Department's new cap of no more than 50% of enrolments from outside the zone. Given the surge in enrolment applications, we are seeking the cooperation of all families to ensure that they have put in their applications for 2020 by the end of the term. Applications received after Sep 1st cannot be guaranteed. School Council will be discussing an amendment to the enrolment policy at our next meeting, which will be published as soon as it is ratified, as we work towards establishing a clear enrolment timeline and process for 2021 that is respectful of the broader community and still provides choice.

Cultural Understanding and Safety Training

Tomorrow is our 3rd curriculum day for 2019 and staff will be undertaking Cultural Understanding and Safety Training. As many would be aware, last week was National Reconciliation Week and whilst our training will fall just outside that timeframe, it is nevertheless an important part of our work. Staff will gain an understanding of Aboriginal culture, the importance of equity and inclusion in educational practice and what schools can do to provide a culturally safe learning environment for Koorie students. The reality is that most inner eastern schools have few Koorie students, if any. This makes the training all the more important, as it can be difficult to understand a culture if you are not exposed to it.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION FOR PARENTS

Every Victorian child should have access to the world of learning opportunities that exist beyond the classroom. The Camps, Sports and Excursions Fund helps ensure that no student will miss out on the opportunity to join their classmates for important, educational and fun activities. It is part of making Victoria the Education State and the Government's commitment to breaking the link between a student's background and their outcomes.

CAMPS, SPORTS & EXCURSIONS FUND (CSEF)

School camps provide children with inspiring experiences in the great outdoors, excursions encourage a deeper understanding of how the world works and sports teach teamwork, discipline and leadership. All are part of a healthy curriculum.

CSEF is provided by the Victorian Government to assist eligible families to cover the costs of school trips, camps and sporting activities.

If you hold a valid means-tested concession card or are a temporary foster parent, you may be eligible for CSEF. A special consideration category also exists for asylum seeker and refugee families. The allowance is paid to the school to use towards expenses relating to camps, excursions or sporting activities for the benefit of your child.

The annual CSEF amount per student is:

- $125 for primary school students
- $225 for secondary school students

MORE INFORMATION

For more information about the CSEF visit

What clever teachers we have!

Although it was never in doubt the teachers proved their superiority by taking out the inaugural (for this PFA) school trivia night held last Friday. The night was a fantastic success and we wish to thank everyone who donated to the evening from a block of chocolate to a King Island holiday, every bit helped us raise in excess of $5,000 to put towards the purchase of new play equipment for the children.

A super HUGE thanks to Sharon & Scott Adams who hosted the evening and stumped many of us with famous faces, Fortnite dances and folding sheets. Their hard work was the driving force behind the evening's success. Thanks to all the families that attended your support was much appreciated and hopefully we can knock the teachers off the winners podium next year!

The Extend Superstar is... Ryan L for showing interest in reading and writing. Well done Ryan keep up the good work!

What's Been Happening?

I believe all Extend families are keeping warm in this chilling winter!

Over the last couple of weeks, the children were involved in several interesting activities, which helped them to excel their learning skills and also kept them engaged. The high light of the program this week was our Autumn leaf spray painting. Everyone showed a huge interest in the activity and it looked awesome with all the lovely colours!

In another art activity, our rainbow on canvas looked fantastic; the children expressed their ideas creatively. Our recycle building contest given everyone an opportunity to learn to be sustainable. Everyone came up with such fantastic ideas like Time machine with multiple functions.

Another highlight of our program was that our young scientist created dinosaur's fizzy eggs, and curiously watched them fizzing to hatch. Our rock salt volcano in the bottles looked amazing squirting out lovely colours. In our kitchen corner, our master chef made yummy pancakes, banana berry smoothie, eggs on muffins, and delicious French toast for breakfast. We also made Banana cake, Harry Potter's cup cakes with assorted icing and Rice paper rolls with fresh vegetables.

Auslan every Thursday is progressing very well; we have mastered alphabets and now practicing everyday vocabulary.

Besides all these interesting activities we loved playing Paper plane golf, Parachute games, Skittle soccer, Rock Paper Scissor Relay, Hula hoop relay, King of the Pin, Hot potatoes, Dodge ball and many more fun activities.

Kind Regards

Meena

Coping with winning and losing

The winter sport season sees most of us crowding the sidelines of pitches, courts, and fields up and down the country in support of our kids' sporting endeavours. Frosty mornings, freezing evenings, the excitement, the challenge – we do it because we love to be there and support them to do their best. But kids struggling to cope with disappointment can be a major stumbling block to many families' enjoyment of sport.

No matter what they play, whether there's a team to work with or just their own personal best to strive against, the business of winning and losing is not an easy one for many children. And hopefully, that's part of the reason why you've encouraged them to be there.

We need to feel disappointment

Any muscle that's to grow stronger needs to have a little weight on it, and coping with the disappointment of losing is no different. It's tempting with kids who really struggle with this to avoid sports, or competition of any kind (even family board games) if they reliably cause a meltdown when someone doesn't win. While it might be embarrassing or upsetting to watch them behave poorly when they lose, they absolutely need those experiences so that they can learn that the feelings aren't quite as intolerable as they think.

What to do

Draw your child off to one side, or away from the crowd, if you feel they're making a spectacle, because of course that won't help. But do try not to worry about how your child's behaviour looks to others or what they might think. Stand with them, support them, put an arm around and empathise with the way they feel.

Don't let them lash out or be disrespectful to anyone, but do let them feel the disappointment and everything it carries wash over them. When the moment is right offer words of wisdom, like, "There's a winner and a loser in every game, no one can be the winner every time", "Losing helps to show us where we can improve for next time," or, "This is hard, but what you're feeling right now will pass". Keep the understanding high, and the condemnation low. Let them feel your belief in their ability to cope with the disappointment. They can borrow yours until they feel their own!
