Prep Getting to Know You BBQ

A final reminder that tomorrow afternoon the PFA welcomes all prep families to a welcome BBQ from 3:45pm in the courtyard. The BBQ is an opportunity to meet new families and chat in a relaxed atmosphere. BBQ sausages (including plant based sausages) will be available, along with some cool drinks. We look forward to seeing as many families as possible.

School Crossing Rules

Late last week our crossing supervisor was unable to attend for one afternoon. Unfortunately a replacement was unable to be sourced, so the crossing was not attended to. Due to an ongoing tug-of-war between the Monash Council and the state government over who is responsible for funding crossing supervisors, schools have been advised to not provide staff in the event a supervisor cannot be present. It is not the role of school staff to cover the crossing, but we are concerned about the safety of all students and their families. The VicRoads website is very clear about the rules of school crossings:

"When the flags are displayed at a children's crossing, you must stop for pedestrians who are waiting to cross or who have started crossing. You must remain stopped until the crossing is clear. These rules apply even if there is no crossing supervisor."

I have also attached a parent information sheet that outlines the best ways to make sure children are safe when crossing.

Of course, last week one of our school councillors* and I observed the crossing and whilst doing so we again witnessed some very poor choices by far too many drivers. Double parking, parking in the no standing areas either side of the crossing, parking across driveways, doing illegal u-turns across the unbroken line, failing to give way at the crossing, failing to give way to other drivers and not indicating when pulling out of a parking space were just some of the low lights. My thanks to the drivers who did follow the rules.

Please, I implore all families to drive safely and to allow an extra minute or two at pick up and drop offs.

 Please refer to the piece attached outlining the perspectives of one of our school parents.*

Additional Car Parking

Whilst the school works with the government and council to create a second car park that will include a drop off and pick up zone. I would remind families that there is parking at the tennis club and kinder areas of Gladeswood Reserve. Both of these spaces are easily accessible and provide a safe alternative for pick up and drop off.

NAPLAN

Families may have noted that NAPLAN is changing this year. Instead of the old 10 band system used previously, students will now receive one of 4 ratings for each test area. The new ratings are:

Exceeding – A child has met the proficiency standard

Strong – A child has met the proficiency standard

Developing – A child has not met the proficiency standard

Needs additional support - A child has not met the proficiency standard

The new standards are designed to provide a clearer understanding of your child's achievement levels. As is always the case at MPS, we use the information from NAPLAN and all of our testing to inform planning and cater to the point of need of each of our students. The NAPLAN tests will provide information as to what areas our Year 3 and 5 students need to focus on next. NAPLAN provides each student with a snapshot of their learning and this information is integrated with school based assessments to provide a rounded view of each child's progress. This then allows the school to provide extension or intervention on that needs basis. From that, we always set our sights on achieving 18 months learning growth in a calendar year. Whilst I acknowledge that learning peaks and plateaus along the way, if we can hit our target 2 or 3 times over the 7 years of primary schooling, our students will be very well prepared for entering secondary school.

Harmony Day

A reminder that on Friday March 24th, MPS will be celebrating Harmony Day. Students are encouraged to wear the traditional clothing of their heritage or the colour orange. Stay tuned for more information next week.

End of Term

An early heads up that Term 1 ends on Thursday April 6th at 2:30pm.

Principal

The Emotional Needs of a Child: Tips for Parents

By: Author Tanja Mcilroy

All too often, we put the focus on our children's intellectual and physical development, while their emotional and social development is just as important, if not more.

Children need emotional stability, in order to feel happy and safe. It is also a prerequisite for learning.

Here are the basic emotional needs of children and 24 tips to ensure your children grow up to be emotionally well adjusted. They are all based on the fantastic book "Language and School Readiness", written by Martie Pieterse.

6 Emotional Needs of a Child

What are the basic emotional needs of children? Here is a summary.

1. Safety and Security

Children need to feel secure and safe, in order to thrive and develop emotionally.

Tiny babies are completely dependent on their parents but need to be able to explore their surroundings to learn. When they feel loved and safe, they find the courage to start discovering the world and this is how they grow and learn.

Young children also learn best when their family and home life are predictable and safe.

2. Routine

Children who have daily routines feel more secure because their days are predictable. They find it comforting to know what to expect in a day. Their routines for sleeping, eating, bathing and other activities give their day structure.

If there was no predictability to the day, they would easily become overwhelmed and unsettled, and home would not feel like a safe haven.

Children who follow routines at home also settle much easier into school routines.

3. Discipline and Consistency

Children need discipline in order to learn about socially acceptable behaviour and norms. They need to learn how to live respectfully amongst others.

The more they learn to navigate the world appropriately, the better their sense of self-confidence and motivation. They also form better friendships and relationships.

Discipline should be fair and consistent, so your children always know what is expected of them and what their limits are. Inconsistent or harsh disciplinary styles do not result in children who learn self-control and self-discipline, as they are fear based.

Children need time to learn about being accountable for their actions and how their actions result in consequences. A fair and calm style of discipline in the home will aid this process.

4. Love

Unconditional love and a strong bond with parents, are absolutely vital for a good foundation in life. Feeling loved is the most important emotional need of a child.

Children need lots of hugs and kisses and they also need to be told that they are loved. This gives them emotional security.

5. Uniqueness

In order to reach their full potential, children must be allowed to be themselves. They need a relaxed and safe environment within which to develop their own talents and aptitudes and become people in their own right.

Don't underestimate them, but don't push them unrealistically towards your own vision for them either.

6. Acceptance, Recognition and Approval

When children receive unconditional love it shows them that they are accepted as they are. This builds their self-confidence which is the best gift you can give a child for their journey through school.

Acceptance and approval should never be conditional if your child is to learn to feel worthy. This should be automatic and not related to how they behave.

Learn to praise your children constructively and recognize their actions and efforts. This becomes a strong motivator for them.

I hope this helps and Part 2 will be in the next newsletter. Until then...

Live well and laugh often!

Ali

Highlights of the last couple of weeks' programs are in art and craft. Our circle and string painting art looked magnificent with the beautiful colour combination. In another art activity, we designed cute elephant with newspaper. We learned to make cool paper rockets in science and created giant bouncy bubbles. In the kitchen we made healthy bliss ball, Indian bread chapati, tortillas, banana choc bread, and cinnamon banana pancakes and fruit scones for breakfast. Some other popular experiences were fashion show, slime, pencil and bottle flip, puzzle challenge, restaurant dramatic play, designing bracelet and many more.

We'd like to thank Darren, Logan and Harley's father, for taking part in the programme with a fantastic magic show. The kids had a great time watching the show. We value your participation in the program, which helps us partner with families in the quality area.

Please pack extra hats in your child's bag for outside activities!
